Summer Camp Opens

Before school gets out, many parents search for alternate solutions for programming and supervision of their children during the summer. Working parents have to find sitters or look at other costly options to keep their children active and happy.

The Long Branch Public Schools have taken that worry away for parents of registered students within the district. On July 5, the Summer Enrichment Camp opened for all preschool through middle school students.

Students participate in a wide variety of academic, athletic and fun activities, culminating in a Parent Presentation just before the camp closes on August 12, 2011. Computer classes, field trips, swimming lessons, rock climbing, conflict resolution, math, reading, fishing, skating, gardening are just a few of the many educational activities that the students participate in.

The Summer Enrichment Camp is free to all registered students in the Long Branch school district. For more information on the camp please visit the Joseph M. Ferraina Early Childhood Learning Center (ages 3 & 4), Gregory Elementary School or Amerigo A. Anastasia School (grades K-4) or the Long Branch Middle School (grades 5-7).
